USER AGREEMENT

Photographic Services Image Library is a password protected photography repository provided to help ease the process when searching for images of high quality and resolution for university purposes.

All images are copyrighted and may only be used for university media (print and electronic publications, news media, and websites). Images may not be used for external use, for resale, or for product use without written permission from Photographic Services.

University images for commercial or private use are subject to usage fees. Usage fees must be paid to Auburn University Photographic Services. Usage fees do not grant approval for private publication and merchandising usage. Approval for private publication and merchandising usage must be granted by the Department of Trademark Management and Licensing at Auburn University, www.auburn.edu/administration/trademark.

Any usage fees which may be imposed by the user’s misuse of images will be the responsibility of the user and the impacted unit or department. Use of the image(s) for any other purpose not specified will be a breach of this agreement and the user will be liable for any and all claims of damage.
